

THE COLEMAN BULLETIN

VOL. IV. NO. 1

COLEMAN, ALBERTA, MAY 27, 1915

$1.50 PER YEAR

D. & A. CORSETS

MADE IN CANADA

Shrewd shoppers will find this season's D. & A. and La Diva Corsets compare more favorably than ever with imported ones. The war tax adds about fifty cents on every dollar to the cost of imported corsets, yet adds nothing to their merit.

Thousands of the best dressed women in Canada have for years been buying the D. & A. and La Diva Corsets, which give perfect satisfaction. Prices $1.25 to $3.50. We are the sole agents for these makes in Coleman.

Summer Dresses

For Little Folks

We have just placed in stock one of the biggest and best assortments of Children's Dresses and Rompers that we have had the pleasure of showing. They come in Drills, Ginghams, Plain and Shot Muslins, and the prices are within reach of everybody. Sizes 1 to 6 years. See them on display in our window.

This Store

prides itself on its specialties. They afford the opportunity to get out of the rut—to get away from the commonplace. In selling these special lines, the pleasure derived is mutual—our customer's satisfaction equals our own.

INVICTUS

is one of the best lines that we have in our store. We have every confidence in Invictus Shoes, simply because past experience has proven their merits. Comfort, style and durability are found in full measure in every pair of Invictus Shoes that we sell. The reputation of this store is something of which we are too jealous to risk making false claims.

W. L. OUMETTE, COLEMAN

KODAK

KODAKS $5 and up.

H. C. MCBURNEY - Druggist

PHONE 44

SUNDAY HOURS—2.00 to 3.00 P.M.

H. HOWES ROBERTS

Barrister

CAMERON BLOCK - COLEMAN

Fire Life, Accident and Liability Insurance

ALEX. M. MORRISON

NOTARY PUBLIC

REAL ESTATE

and INSURANCE

Reg. Births, Marriages, Deaths Office in Rex Theatre Coleman

Charge Denied.

After all, it was the House of Morgan, and not certain Ministers of the Rutherford government, which benefitted by the $740,000 premium on the bond issue of the Alberta and Great Waterways Railroad. The truth came out in a statement by Premier Sifton during the closing hours of the legislature in Edmonton last week. The political ghost of the Waterways was brought up by Leader Michener in the opposition, who made some reference to the missing premium and in reply the premier said:

"I think that in regard to this matter this is a good time that I should state that one of the English partners of the House of Morgan informed me that so far as their profit on these bonds was concerned, it went entirely to themselves. Mr. Smith is the London partner, and he looks after matters there. He told me that when they bought these bonds they did not anticipate being able to sell them for anything like 110, but the bonds were not delivered to them until some months afterwards. There had been a considerable change in the market and they had been able to get it."

Hon. C. W. Cross, the attorney-general, and former Premier Rutherford, are the men most concerned by this clearance. At the time of the bond sale it was openly charged that these two ministers were the beneficiaries, and the frank statement of the premiers clears the atmosphere and sends to oblivion the baseless charges against these gentlemen.—The Western Standard.

BORN.

SADDLER—In Coleman, on May 23rd, to Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Saddler, a daughter and a son.

ASHE—In Coleman, on Friday, May 21st, to Mr. and Mrs. E. Ashe, a son.

FLYNN—In Coleman, on Friday, May 21st, to Mr. and Mrs. A. Flynn, a son.

Walter Derricott and Miss Emily Grafton were united in marriage by Rev. Hunter at Blainmore on Monday last. Both young people are well known in Coleman and their many friends will wish them every happiness and prosperity.

Miss Maude Johnson left for Midnapore on Monday evening, where she has obtained a situation.

Garbage and Refuse

of every description removed promptly and thoroughly.

Orders for dray work of every description given careful attention.

A. E. Knowles

R. W. Johnston

LUMBER

Dealer and

Contractor

Dealer in Lumber, Sash Doors, Shingles, Lath Cement and Plaster, etc.

Wall Board and Beaver Board always in stock.

Coleman Alberta

News of the Week

W. L. Oumette is a visitor at Red Deer this week.

Dr. McNally, of Lethbridge, spent Monday in town.

Fresh cream and buttermilk for sale at The Coleman Bakery.

Miss Keeley, of Taber, spent Victoria Day with the Misses Beck.

Mrs. W. A. Davidson will receive for the first time on Thursday, June 3rd.

All kinds of fruit and vegetables are arriving daily at The Coleman Bakery.

A number of new residences are being built up in the Grafton sub-division.

Mr. Stewart, of Michel, visited with Mr. and Mrs. J. Fairhurst last week-end.

Rev. T. M. Murray will preach on "Drink and Human Welfare" on Sabbath evening next.

Miss E. McDonald, of Cranbrook, and Miss Paul, of Crows Nest, were in town over Sunday.

F. G. Graham returned home Saturday evening from Crawford Bay. He expects to go west again this week.

Wm. Cowan, secretary of the football club, has enlisted with the 54th Kootenay battalion and left on Saturday morning for Fernie.

A sixteen months old child of D. H. Hyslop was rather badly trampled by a horse on Wednesday, but is now getting along nicely.

Mrs. P. W. Tinline, of Winnipeg, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Leonard Norman. She will probably remain for a couple of months.

The management of the opera house have, by a piece of rare good fortune, been successful in securing for the evening of June 3rd (and 4 o'clock matinee) that greatest of all dramas, Damon and Pythias, in six parts. The story of Damon and Pythias has been handed down through the ages and will live forever.

It took a thousand artists to dramatize this thrilling story, and marks the greatest achievement in the world of moving pictures. You will regret it if you miss seeing this.

How dear to my heart is the luscious boiled dinner, which fond recollection brings back now and then, that balm to the stomach, that forty-time winner—oh, give me an old time boiled dinner again! So often I've sat at the restaurant table, and down through the menu I've hopefully looked for something to comfort my north-eastern gable, for such a boiled dinner as grandmother cooked! The steaming boiled dinner, the noble boiled dinner, the grand old boiled dinner my grandmother cooked. I'm tired of the fodder you're constantly shovin', the things out of box and the things out of can, the dofunnies baked in a gasoline oven, the chaffing dish horrors which frighten a man; your cooking school triumphs are weird and uncanny. That sort of refreshment too long I have brooked; I long for the skill of my dear sainted granny, I long for the dinner that grandmother cooked! The fragrant boiled dinner, the juicy boiled dinner, the cultured boiled dinner my grandmother cooked.—UNCLE WALT.

Job Printing
At The Bulletin Office

Decorate the Home

BAPCO PURE PAINT

Bapco Paint is purely a Canadian product and contains nothing but absolutely pure ingredients.

we carry this in all shades and will be pleased to furnish color card on request.

MINERVA PAINT

This Paint is put up in Canada by Pinchin, Johnson & Co., which is a branch house of the firm in London, Eng., and is the result of seventy-six years paint-making experience. We carry a large line of colors.

H. G. GOODEVE CO., LIMITED

If you are satisfied, tell others; if not, tell us.

LIGHT WEIGHT

UNDERWEAR

Now is the time for a change of Underwear. Try a suit of our Dr. Jaeger's Pure Wool Underwear in white—2 piece Suits or combinations, at $3.25 per suit.

Men's Light Weight Wool Underwear, British make, $2.00 per suit.

Men's Merino Underwear, natural color, $1.25 per suit.

Men's Balbriggan Underwear, Natural and Pink, $1.00 per suit.

Cecil Gower

THE MEN'S STORE.

COLEMAN, ALBERTA

Washington Berries

Arriving daily. Large boxes. Nice Berries. Prices right.

VEGETABLES and FRUITS

Rhubarb, Lettuce, Onions, Radishes, Cucumbers, etc.
Oranges, Apples, Bananas, Lemons, Pineapples, all of the best.

OUR ICE CREAM IS GOOD

In bricks, bulk or glass. Butter-milk and pure Cream for sale.
Try our Strawberries and Cream. All pure and delicious.

The Coleman Bakery

Wm. Beck, Proprietor.

Main Street, Coleman

The Golden Girl

By Alice and Claude Asker
Ward, Lock & Co. Limited
London, Melbourne and Toronto

(Continued)

She laughed as she spoke, for the fact of the confession was self-evident from the attitude which Harold and Leslie had taken up. They had joined hands once more and were standing in front of Althea in silence, though the eyes of both sparkled with mirth and happiness.

"Are you posing for your photograph?" demanded Althea.

"Can't you see that we have come to ask your blessing upon us?" It was Leslie who spoke, for he was the one who had shot out the question with serio-comic indignation.

"You have it. Bless you, my children," said Althea.

"Aren't you surprised?" This was Leslie again.

"Not a bit. I knew quite well what was going to happen. In fact, from my matchmaking point of view, you were both very good to do this without appointment."

Althea spoke with assumed severity, Leslie, disengaging a finger from Harold's clasped hands together, in equally assumed penitence.

"Please, don't be so serious. The things we ought not to have done, and we've both found out that idiots we were. We've made humbly and truly sorry."

Other, and agreed never, never, never to do it again. Harold has found out that his own most cherished wish may have felt of clay—oh, yes, that's what you said yourself, Harold, she added hastily, in answer to Althea's test from the young man, "your very words."

For the young man was as beautiful as a copy book, and she really said about everybody chasing a chimera some time in their lives and stumbling into a bog at the end of it. Didn't you say that it was I who pulled you out of the bog, and that you thought of me when you were floundering in the middle of it?"

"I suppose I did," admitted Harold. "Anyway, it's certainly true that I did think of Leslie, and that I found myself so hopelessly mixed up in other people's affairs, I began to realize how—" he hesitated.

"How badly you'd treated me," put in Leslie demurely. She cast an expressive glance at Althea, who didn't put the blame on him but had put it on Leslie. And really and truly, I should never have treated him so. If I hadn't had such a cross with Harold—"

"Well, well," interrupted Althea, "you're safely out of the wood now. We'll admit that you're both miserable sinners, and so you can't stop at each other. And having repented of your sins, for which you've both been punished, I see no reason why you shouldn't live happily ever after."

With which sentiment Harold and Leslie cordially agreed.

They stayed chattering for a little while longer and Leslie declared that she would just have time before dinner to write some letters announcing the great event. Then she had to see her to the house and settle her down at her writing desk, but he promised that when he came back he would come back and have a quiet chat with his sister.

Althea, regarding the young lovers tenderly as they tripped light-heartedly away over the lawn, if there had been shadows of any kind, those two shadows were not utterly dispersed.

Had there been such shadows at all? Althea pondered the question. There was no doubt now, not the faintest, of their genuine love for each other. But that love had only rarely existed in existence within the last three weeks, during which time she had been constantly in each other's society. Before that there had been mutual attraction, but not real love, a natural sympathy, but not real love.

For had it been so Harold could not have gone off chasing his chimera, nor could Leslie have consoled herself for her disappointment at Lady Evelyn's "theory" that by entering the service she would be able to enter in pique, upon so very "British" with Frank Barton. But now all that was forgotten. The bud that had threatened to drop had burst into flower, radiant, triumphant, sweet.

And had come, and Althea, whose thoughts were for others rather than for herself, rejoiced.

True, as she sat there alone under the shady trees and watched the shining sun throw a golden track across the river, she drew a sigh for her own brief romance. But that was her secret, and thank God she had never admitted to living, soul that for a little while she had been temple of remorse the cold theories for which she had become distinguished—the avowed determination never to sacrifice her art in favor of love. "The two cannot exist together," she had always declared, and now she was never have to recant her doctrine, and that, at least, was something to be thankful for.

But she had suffered, suffered in silence and in secret. She did not name Frank Barton, and certainly did not name Leslie, and she was grateful, till quite the end, that Frank had professed love and devotion for Althea.

If anyone was to blame it was herself. She had had her moment, and she had loved him. She had imposed conditions, to which he had agreed, and she had turned of the corner which had been meant.

Yet the passionate words that he had spoken to her that night at Lady Evelyn's often resounded in her ears. He had declared that she was the one woman in the world for him, and he had confessed at her suggestion that he was the glamer which surrounded her as a famous artist, and not her own personality, which had impressed him. And so she had had her moment, and she had loved him. She had imposed conditions, to which he had agreed, and she had turned of the corner which had been meant.

That visit, at the close of the London season, had ended disastrously. Leslie Carrington was staying at Cockburn House, and she had been seen to forgive Harold, had amused herself by flirting outrageously with Frank. A liking for Leslie, a liking for attraction, had sprung up that night at Lady Evelyn's, and Leslie, happily ignorant that she was "possessed," had exerted herself to make Leslie greater than she had anticipated. Indeed, she found herself rather awkwardly placed, for her idea had been merely to arouse the jealousy of Harold, who was expected down in a week's time, whereas before the latter appeared upon the scene Frank had avowed his love and was pressing for an answer.

He had not attempted to excuse himself before Althea, but had gone to her with a candid avowal—an avowal that she had every reason to expect. "I feel that I've behaved like a brute towards you," he said, "and I have no excuse to offer. I thought that my heart was in subjection to my head, but it was a mistake."

Althea was not in the least angry, and it was not Frank who was not allowed to escape. "My dear boy," she said, "you see that I was right from the first. I asked you here to give you a lesson—that was so, and that you only saw me in gorgeous frocks specially designed for me—down here I wear a brown holland coat and a black straw hat. They don't become me, and you wouldn't like them on your wife—"

"You feel—as you never felt in London—that I am older than you. I knew that you would not really love me, the least suited to each other, Frank."

He gazed at her, unable to make up his mind whether he were to take her seriously or not. He was so sure of her relief was apparent in every line of his face. And she was sick with pity, yet she could not help but say, "Then you didn't really care?"

"You may be making a fool of me?" "You may be making a fool of me?" "You may be making a fool of me?"

"You may be making a fool of me?" "You may be making a fool of me?" "You may be making a fool of me?"

"You may be making a fool of me?" "You may be making a fool of me?" "You may be making a fool of me?"

"You may be making a fool of me?" "You may be making a fool of me?" "You may be making a fool of me?"

"You may be making a fool of me?" "You may be making a fool of me?" "You may be making a fool of me?"

"You may be making a fool of me?" "You may be making a fool of me?" "You may be making a fool of me?"

"You may be making a fool of me?" "You may be making a fool of me?" "You may be making a fool of me?"

"You may be making a fool of me?" "You may be making a fool of me?" "You may be making a fool of me?"

FOR EASY RUNNING, LIGHT DRAFT AND LONG SERVICE. THEY ARE MADE IN CANADA

Feed the Birds

Conserving the Live Stock

Home Demand Not Supplied and Large Exports Deplete Breeding Flocks

Preservation of Bird Life is of Great Benefit to the Farmer

Now is the very best time of year for their human friends to express some return interest in the bird neighbors which have been doing so much for their crops.

A feast of cracked nuts, nut, sunflower seed, fruits and grains spread daily in the cornfields, is easily accessible to all the bird folk, but protected from their enemies, would be especially appreciated by the feathered residents.

Now that food is so scarce and hard to obtain, even by the most industrious workers. Some of the friends of the little folk will come to a window sill feast board where you may observe their pleasure in your treat.

Without a rude intrusion or rough investigation to see if they are comfortable, they can be easily observed. You might provide some neighborhood shelters where all the feathered habitants of woods and fields be safe and welcome.

And then proceed to get acquainted with the little folks. They are so easy to care about such things you will find out in "Who is Who in Bird Land?"

They come in many shapes and sizes, and you care about such things you will find out in "Who is Who in Bird Land?"

They come in many shapes and sizes, and you care about such things you will find out in "Who is Who in Bird Land?"

They come in many shapes and sizes, and you care about such things you will find out in "Who is Who in Bird Land?"

They come in many shapes and sizes, and you care about such things you will find out in "Who is Who in Bird Land?"

They come in many shapes and sizes, and you care about such things you will find out in "Who is Who in Bird Land?"

They come in many shapes and sizes, and you care about such things you will find out in "Who is Who in Bird Land?"

They come in many shapes and sizes, and you care about such things you will find out in "Who is Who in Bird Land?"

They come in many shapes and sizes, and you care about such things you will find out in "Who is Who in Bird Land?"

They come in many shapes and sizes, and you care about such things you will find out in "Who is Who in Bird Land?"

They come in many shapes and sizes, and you care about such things you will find out in "Who is Who in Bird Land?"

They come in many shapes and sizes, and you care about such things you will find out in "Who is Who in Bird Land?"

They come in many shapes and sizes, and you care about such things you will find out in "Who is Who in Bird Land?"

They come in many shapes and sizes, and you care about such things you will find out in "Who is Who in Bird Land?"

They come in many shapes and sizes, and you care about such things you will find out in "Who is Who in Bird Land?"

They come in many shapes and sizes, and you care about such things you will find out in "Who is Who in Bird Land?"

They come in many shapes and sizes, and you care about such things you will find out in "Who is Who in Bird Land?"

They come in many shapes and sizes, and you care about such things you will find out in "Who is Who in Bird Land?"

They come in many shapes and sizes, and you care about such things you will find out in "Who is Who in Bird Land?"

They come in many shapes and sizes, and you care about such things you will find out in "Who is Who in Bird Land?"

They come in many shapes and sizes, and you care about such things you will find out in "Who is Who in Bird Land?"

They come in many shapes and sizes, and you care about such things you will find out in "Who is Who in Bird Land?"

They come in many shapes and sizes, and you care about such things you will find out in "Who is Who in Bird Land?"

They come in many shapes and sizes, and you care about such things you will find out in "Who is Who in Bird Land?"

They come in many shapes and sizes, and you care about such things you will find out in "Who is Who in Bird Land?"

They come in many shapes and sizes, and you care about such things you will find out in "Who is Who in Bird Land?"

They come in many shapes and sizes, and you care about such things you will find out in "Who is Who in Bird Land?"

They come in many shapes and sizes, and you care about such things you will find out in "Who is Who in Bird Land?"

They come in many shapes and sizes, and you care about such things you will find out in "Who is Who in Bird Land?"

They come in many shapes and sizes, and you care about such things you will find out in "Who is Who in Bird Land?"

They come in many shapes and sizes, and you care about such things you will find out in "Who is Who in Bird Land?"

They come in many shapes and sizes, and you care about such things you will find out in "Who is Who in Bird Land?"

Would Seize Wheat

The Quality of the Soldiers

British Trade Unions Say Government Should Seize the Wheat Supply

The General Federation of Trade Unions, in a document issued regarding the high prices of food in the United Kingdom, recommends chiefly that the British government take over all wheat supplies as has been done in Germany.

"The British farmer," the document reads, "would suffer no real hardship or loss if the government commandeered the whole home-grown and unmarketed wheat supply, at a price of £20.50 a quarter, and immediate action on these lines would tend to moderate prices."

The manifesto charges the government with failure to anticipate and organize against certain consequences of the war and urges quick and drastic remedial action to avert a situation which is becoming desperate.

The manifesto also demands a better distribution of incoming steamships at ports other than London and Liverpool, and a better utilization of the railways for the export of millions of dollars' worth of prime cattle, leaving stocks now on hand at a very low ebb.

In Western Canada, especially, there has been a very severe decrease in the number of cattle, and the result has been a large import of beef, mutton and hog products, although Canadian cattle have been sold for the development of a large export business.

On the other hand, exports of some of these commodities are showing large increases. The trade in hams and bacon has been particularly developed with Great Britain, and to a less extent with the eastern United States during the first ten months of 1914 amounted to 15,538,384 pounds, and is now increasing rapidly month by month.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

THE QUALITY OF THE SOLDIERS

Would Seize Wheat

The Quality of the Soldiers

British Trade Unions Say Government Should Seize the Wheat Supply

The General Federation of Trade Unions, in a document issued regarding the high prices of food in the United Kingdom, recommends chiefly that the British government take over all wheat supplies as has been done in Germany.

"The British farmer," the document reads, "would suffer no real hardship or loss if the government commandeered the whole home-grown and unmarketed wheat supply, at a price of £20.50 a quarter, and immediate action on these lines would tend to moderate prices."

The manifesto charges the government with failure to anticipate and organize against certain consequences of the war and urges quick and drastic remedial action to avert a situation which is becoming desperate.

The manifesto also demands a better distribution of incoming steamships at ports other than London and Liverpool, and a better utilization of the railways for the export of millions of dollars' worth of prime cattle, leaving stocks now on hand at a very low ebb.

In Western Canada, especially, there has been a very severe decrease in the number of cattle, and the result has been a large import of beef, mutton and hog products, although Canadian cattle have been sold for the development of a large export business.

On the other hand, exports of some of these commodities are showing large increases. The trade in hams and bacon has been particularly developed with Great Britain, and to a less extent with the eastern United States during the first ten months of 1914 amounted to 15,538,384 pounds, and is now increasing rapidly month by month.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

The chief danger seen by the department of agriculture is in the depletion of the breeding supplies of stock, and the educational campaign to induce more widespread and vigorous efforts to increase the number of stock in the provinces is now being undertaken.

Prize Winners.

Following are the names of those who won prizes in the different sport competitions held under the auspices of the Coleman and Carbondale unions on May 21st:

Girls' race (14 years)—E. Morris, L. Johnston.

Girls' race (12 years)—H. Perdue, L. Mitchell.

Girls' race (10 years)—L. McVey, C. Williams.

Girls' race (7 years)—N. Derbyshire, J. Kemp.

Girls' skipping (14 years)—M. Cox, H. Atkinson.

Girls' skipping (12 years)—J. Kemp, L. Washholm.

Boys' race (16 years)—S. Stotmans, J. Knowles.

Boys' cracker race (14 years)—F. Merry, J. Bouch.

Boys' race (12 years)—R. Edey, C. Edey.

Boys' cracker race (10 years)—S. Machin, F. Henriett.

Boys' race (12 years)—R. Bra-shue, J. Bouch.

Boys' race (7 years)—J. Johnston, J. Fauville.

Boys' wrestling match (16 years)—J. Cliffe, Fernie Beck.

Single ladies' race—E. Morris, M. Larrigan.

Married ladies' race—Mrs. T. Smith, Mrs. G. Fairhurst.

Men over 40 years race—G. Gratton, J. Stotmans.

Old men's race—R. Easton, J. Foster.

100 yards (open)—G. Pelletier, F. Beddington.

220 yards (open)—F. Beddington, T. Sudworth.

100 yards (confined to both local unions)—F. Beddington, J. Nash.

Place kick—D. Montgomery.

Football match (Coleman vs. Frank)—Frank 3 goals, Coleman 2 goals.

Bicycle race—J. Destables, E. Stotmans.

President Phillips and Tom Connors, Socialist candidates for Fernie Riding, delivered addresses in the evening from the verandah of the Grand Union hotel, which brought an enjoyable day to an end, notwithstanding the poor outlook earlier in the day.

The Football Club dance was one of the most successful dances that has been held this season, 72 couples being present.

Liquor License Ordinance

APPLICATION FOR TRANSFER OF LIQUOR LICENSE

Application has been made by David Neel for consent to the transfer to himself of the license granted Albert Muir in respect to the Coleman Hotel, situate on lot one of two (2) and three (3) block eleven (11), Coleman Alberta.

It is necessary this application will be considered by the Board of License Commissioners at a meeting to be held in the License Branch Office, Suite 208 Commercial Travellers' Building, First Street East, Calgary, on Thursday, June 11th, 1915, at 10 o'clock A. M.

Dated at Edmonton this 7th day of May 1915.

G. P. OWEN FENWICK,
Acting Deputy Attorney General.

THE NEW BRAND ACT

requires the registration of all the Brands in the Province. All persons who registered Brands before December 31st, 1900, will require to have the same re-registered during the present year. Notices are being sent out, but because of change of address they may not reach some owners of Brands, and all such are requested to communicate with the Recorder of Brands at Medicine Hat at once, giving a description of their Brands and their present address, when full information will be sent them with respect to renewal of the same.

H. A. CRAIG,
Deputy Minister of Agriculture,
Province of Alberta.

The only "Officer" provided for in the proposed Liquor Act is the Vendor, and he has to devote all his time to the selling and distribution of booze—not in curtailing the use of it.

Inasmuch as the electorate are to be asked to choose between the Liquor License Ordinance (now in force), and the Liquor Act (proposed) on July 21st next, it is quite important that the people of the Province should familiarize themselves with the provisions of both Acts in order that they may vote intelligently when the above named date rolls around.

With that end in view we have gone over the Liquor License Ordinance with reasonable care during the past week or two, and a comparison of its construction with that of the proposed Liquor Act is much more than interesting in at least one respect—is indeed rather startling.

For instance:

The present Liquor License Ordinance first of all provides and creates the machinery by which The Ordinance can be enforced. Thus it creates the Provincial Board of License Commissioners, provides for the appointment of a chief license inspector, of numerous district license inspectors and other officials in various parts of the Province whose business it is to see that the provisions of the Liquor License Ordinance are properly observed and enforced. Obviously, without this chain of official machinery The Ordinance would be something of a white elephant.

And here is just one more place where the proposed Liquor Act falls down hard. The officials of the Alberta Temperance and Moral Reform League apparently were so eager to take that vote in the right direction, so determined to bring on a vote of some kind or other in order no doubt to counteract to some extent the humiliation they had been compelled to endure through their own short-sightedness in other parts of the Province that they gave little or no thought to the preparation of The Act on which they are asking a pronouncement on July 21st next.

The proposed Liquor Act contains 71 clauses, but not a single one of those clauses, and not a single word in any one of all its provisions makes the slightest provision for the enforcement of The Act. It does not provide for the appointment of a single inspector, or any similar official.

Indeed, THE ONLY OFFICER PROVIDED FOR IN THE LIQUOR ACT IS THE VENDOR, AND HE HAS TO DEVOTE ALL HIS TIME TO THE SELLING AND DISTRIBUTION OF BOOZE—NOT IN CURTAILING THE USE OF IT.

Such crass stupidity on the part of The League is almost unbelievable. But that is not all.

Having failed in framing the Liquor Act to provide the necessary machinery for its proper enforcement, The League renders confusion worse confounded by destroying with a stroke of the pen the official machinery at present in existence for the enforcement of the Liquor License Ordinance in clause 73 of the proposed measure, which provides that "The Liquor License Ordinance . . . and all amendments thereto are hereby repealed."

Therefore, if it were at all possible for such a thing to happen, and the proposed Liquor Act did come into operation on July 1, 1916, as therein provided, the inevitable result would be a wide-open Province—one gigantic debauch accompanied by a tidal wave of booze—for while we would have the Liquor Act providing for the regulation of the liquor business, we would not have a single officer to see that those regulations were enforced.

All the license inspectors, etc., are now appointed under the Liquor License Ordinance. Repeal that Ordinance and the Government would not have a mite of authority for continuing ing to employ these officers and they would automatically join the ranks of the unemployed.

And this is only one more of the long list of blunders which the Alberta Temperance and Moral Reform League is responsible for, and which they are asking the electors to condone by voting for the Liquor Act on July 21st. There are many other blunders in that Act, and it is the purpose of The Bulletin to point them out—if we have time to go over the whole list before voting day.

NOTICE

IN THE MATTER OF THE COURT OF CONFIRMATION OF THE TAX ENFORCEMENT RETURN FOR THE TOWN OF COLEMAN, ALBERTA.

NOTICE is hereby given that His Honour Judge McNeill, Judge of the District Court of the District of Macleod, has appointed

SATURDAY, 11th DAY OF JULY, 1915, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, in the Council Chamber in the said Town of Coleman, as the time and place for the holding of a Court of Confirmation to confirm the Tax Enforcement Return for the said Town of Coleman for the years of Taxes due to the said Town to the 31st December, 1914.

Dated at Coleman, in the Province of Alberta, this 5th day of April, 1915.

H. HOWES ROBERTS
Solicitor for the Town of Coleman

CANADIAN PACIFIC

Full particulars from all Local Agents

General Change of Train Service, Effective May 31, 1915

SPECIAL NOTE

Trains One and Two, "Imperial Limited" will not carry day coaches between Winnipeg and Revelstoke, and only passengers having sleeping car accommodation can travel between these and intervening points on these trains.

R. DAWSON, Dist. Pass. Agt., Calgary.

WHY

Pay $25.00 for membership in a Co-Operative Society when you can get better prices for a Two-Dollar Membership in the Co-Operative Union. Call and see us for particulars.

The Italian Product Co.

Opposite Bulletin Office Coleman, Alberta

Empire Hams and Bacon

ARE EXCELLENT

Our Stock of Fresh and Cured Meats is the Best that can be procured.

We would appreciate a share of your patronage.

The V. H. LOWDEN CO.,

FERNIE MOUNTAIN SUPPLY COMPANY Limited

Dealers in WINES, LIQUORS and Cigars
We handle the Fernie Beer and Soft Drinks

FRANK

ALBERTA

COAL

Nearly everybody is doing it—buying International Coal—are you. Give it a trial and see if this slope coal isn't just what you want.

Mines High-Grade Steam and Coking Coal. Manufacturers of the Best Coke on the Market

Write to or Apply at the Head Office of

The INTERNATIONAL COAL & COKE CO., Ltd.
COLEMAN, ALBERTA

McGILLIVRAY CREEK Coal & Coke Co. Ltd

Mine and General Offices:

COLEMAN, ALBERTA

Registry Office

Head Office

Spokane - Wash. Rossland - B.C.

OWNS AND OPERATES

Carbondale Mine

WHICH PRODUCES AN

Exceptionally High Grade

—OF—

STEAM COAL

The Coleman Liquor Co.

French Clarets

and

Italian Liquors

A SPECIALTY

Wholesale Liquors, Cigars & Tobaccos

Phone 59 Ring 3

Agent for CALGARY BREWING CO.

Grand Union Hotel

Coleman, Alta.

BEST OF ACCOMMODATION
We Cater to the Working Man's Trade

G. A. CLAIR

Proprietor

T. W. DAVIES

Funeral Director and Embalmer

Headstones Supplied and Set up
COLEMAN Residence Phone 143 ALBERTA